Organization.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

In this School the course of study is pursued on the same general principles adopted in the best Public Schools of our cities, and students are prepared for the mathematical, Classical, and Scientific Departments of the University. The same course of study is required of all, and great importance is attached to THOROUGHNESS, as a mistake here is too frequently destructive to a proper understanding and appreciation of the branches pursued in the University. A thorough mastery of the elementary principles taught in this Department underlies success in other Departments, and subsequent study can rarely, if ever, atone for deficient preparation.

DEPARTMENT OF LITERATURE AND SCIENCE.

The Department of Literature and Science comprehends the seven University Schools, which are denominated as follows:

1. Latin. 2. Greek. 3. Mathematics. 4. Natural Science. 5. Moral Science. 6. English. 7. Modern Languages.

These Schools are elective, and each independent of another; the Faculty, however, reserving the right to dictate a course of study for the younger class of students in cases where parents or guardians have not particularly prescribed what branches shall be pursued. Students graduating in any one of these Schools will be entitled to a certificate of graduation in that school.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

In connection with the course of study usually pursued in the Grammar School and the Department of Literature and Science of the University, the Trustees have established a Commercial Department, where young men while pursuing the other branches may thoroughly fit themselves for the counting room as much so as at any other Commercial College, the manner and subjects treated being the same as that pursued at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The course of study, (Bryant & Stratton's course) is that now taught in most Commercial Colleges in the country. It is complete in itself, embracing every species of business from the simplest sets in Retail and Wholesale business to the most difficult sets in Commission, Insurance, Railroading, Steamboating, Banking, etc. The whole course except six sets, which are designed for those beginning, is double entry. The course also includes commercial calculations, business correspondence, lectures on commercial law, rapid hand-writing, ornamental penmanship, scrolling, and all kinds of drawing with the pen.

It is designed to make this Department attractive and profitable in the highest degree to all, and to fit those desiring clerkships for the counting room.

The studies of this Department being extra, a life scholarship, not transferable, can be had for $30.00, payable in advance. All students who may wish to take this course, or any part of it, in connection with the Literary Department, can do so at the rate of $3.50 per month.

All students of the University will be taught penmanship by the Professor of this Department free of any extra charge.

Course of Study.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL,

The studies pursued in this Department embrace Orthography, Reading, Phonetics, Vocal Culture, Geography, English Grammar, Composition, Analysis, History, Mental Arithmetic, Written Arithmetic, Latin Grammar and Reader, Greek Grammar and Reader, Elementary Algebra, Writing, and Drawing.

The principles of Free-hand Writing and Drawing are taught to all the members of this School by means of diagrams, charts, and black-board exercises, by a teacher of acknowledged skill and ability.

The classes, in all the studies embraced in this Department, are graded, and no pupil is allowed to advance from one grade to another without passing a satisfactory examination on all studies preceeding the grade he proposes to enter.

Students pursuing the studies of this Department, except in special cases, are expected to sit in the study hall with the Master of the Grammar School, and are under the same general management as the other students of the University. They receive instructions from the Master of the Grammar School and other Professors of the University.

THE DEPARTMENT OF LITERATURE AND SCIENCE.

I. THE SCHOOL OF LATIN,

Applicants for admission into this School must be thoroughly acquainted with the paradigms of declension and conjugation, and familiar with the fundamental principles of Syntax, so far as to enable them to translate the easier authors. This will require an accurate knowledge of the Latin Studies of the Academic Department of the University, or their equivalent.

The studies in the University Course, for a period of three years, besides parallel readings, are as follows:

First Year—Virgil, Cicero's Orations, Harkness' Latin Grammar, Harkness' Latin Prose Composition.

Second Year—Horace, Livy, Arnold's Prose Composition, Zumpt's and Madvig's Latin Grammar.

Third Year—Horace completed, Terence, Tacitus, Juvenal, History of Rome, Latin Literature.

II. THE SCHOOL OF GREEK.

First Year—Xenophon's Anabasis, Homer's Odyssey, Prose Composition.

Second Year—Alcestis of Euripides, Demosthenes, Crosby's and Hadley's Greek Grammars.

IV. THE SCHOOL OF NATURAL SCIENCE.

The course of study in this school comprehends the wide range of Natural History, Geology, Natural Philosophy, and Chemistry. First Year—Physical Geography, Mineralogy, Botany.

Second Year—Zoology, Physiology, Natural Philosophy.

Third Year—Geology, General Chemistry, Chemistry applied to the useful arts in Agriculture and Manufactures.

First Year—Logic, Intellectual Philosophy.

Second Year—Moral Philosophy, Political Economy, Analogy of Religion.

VI. THE SCHOOL OF ENGLISH.

In this School are taught the principles of the English Language, its origin, growth, and development, the same prominence being given to it as to the Ancient Languages. The School embraces a course of three years.

First Year—English Grammar, Analysis, and Composition.

Second Year—Rhetoric, English Literature.

Third Year—Ancient and Modern History, Elements of Criticism.

Declamation and Composition by all students in the University, to both of which particular attention is paid.

VII. SCHOOL OF MODERN LANGUAGES.

In this School the student is taught the principles of Grammar and the use of idioms, with a fair knowledge of pronunciation, so as to enable him to read foreign works and to speak these languages with some degree of facility. The THEORETICAL and PRACTICAL methods are carried on continuously. Special reference is had to the critical examination of the comparative philology and the general correlation subsisting between the English and the languages spoken on the continent of Europe.

GERMAN.

First Year—Keetel's Oral Method, Woodbury's Grammar, Elementary Reader, and Eclectic Reader.

Second Year—Whitney's Grammar and Reader, Schiller's Maid of Orleans.

Students will also read the current events of the day in the newspapers printed in these languages.

THE DEGREES.

The regular degrees conferred by the University are as follows:

1. The Degree of MASTER OF ARTS is conferred on students who graduate in all the Seven Schools of the Department of Literature and Science.

2 The Degree of BACHELOR OF ARTS is conferred on those who graduate in the Schools of Latin, Mathematics, Natural Science, Moral Science, English, and German, and French.

3. The Degree of BACHELOR OF PHILOSOPHY is conferred on those who graduate in the Schools of Mathematics, Natural Science, Moral Science, English, and either German or French.

Besides these Regular Degrees, a student who pursues the course of study of any School, and passes a satisfactory examination, is entitled to a degree of GRADUATE IN THAT SCHOOL.

No degree will be conferred on any student of the University unless he shall have sustained a good moral character, and settled all College bills.

THE RELIGIOUS CULTURE OF STUDENTS.

In connection with the discipline of the intellect, it is the purpose of the University to inculcate a pure moraltity and the great fundamental truths and duties of the Christian religion. The public exercises of each day are opened with the reading of the Scriptures and prayer; and on the Sabbath the students of the University have the opportunity of attending the public worship of God in the churches of Jackson. All the students are earnestly urged to attend regularly some Sabbath School of their own choice in the city.

THE SESSIONS AND VACATIONS.

The annual session of ten months is divided into two Terms, each of twenty weeks.

The first Term will begin on Monday, September 3rd, 1877, and the second Term will close on Thursday, June 6th, 1878.

The annual vacation occurs during the months of June, July and August.

In view of the demoralization incident to a recess of one week at Christmas, there will be no intermission of College exercises except on Christmas day. It is earnestly desired that parents will not request that leave of absence be granted to their sons to spend the Christmas holidays at home; and in no case will a student be permitted to leave except upon the concurrent consent of the parent and Faculty.

BOARDING.

In connection with the University is a large, commodious and well ventilated Boarding House, owned and conducted by Capt. W. H. Brown and his excellent wife, whose pious and cultured family will make it a desireable home for young gentlemen. Price of Board, including fuel and lights, $10.00 per calendar month.

Boarding can be had in private families at $12.00 to $14.00 per month, everything furnished except washing, which is 25 cents per week.

Students are allowed to board only in such families as are recognized by the Faculty as suitable for boarding the students of the University. Persons intending to send their sons should correspond with the Chairman of the Faculty.

BENEFICIARIES.

Students for the Ministry of all denominations, when properly recommended by their churches, and the sons of Ministers engaged in the active work of the profession, are admitted to the University free of charge for tuition. Assistance in paying for their board also will be rendered to young men having the Ministry in view.

THE LOCATION.

The University is situated in the eastern suburbs of the city of Jackson, Tenn., and is accessible from all directions by means of railroads. Jackson is distinguished for the healthfulness of its climate, the public spirit and enterprise of its citizens, and the virtue and refinement of its society. No city of the Southwest is better situated to be the seat of a great University.

REGULATIONS.

Students in the higher Departments of the University are required to study in their private rooms, and to report to their Professors, for recitation at appointed hours, according to the Schedule of Recitations which is fixed at the beginning of the Session.

ADMISSION.

To enter a College Class, the candidate, besides passing a satisfactory examination on previous studies, must present testimonials of good moral character, and, if from another Institution, a certificate of standing and regular discharge.

We wish every student to have a plenty of work, to keep constantly at it, and to do it well. It is impossible to insist too earnestly on the importance of prompt entrance with a class, on the studies of a term, and of continuance till the subjects are finished.

EXAMINATIONS.

Two regular examinations are held; the first at the close of the Fall Term, and the other at the close of the Collegiate year. In no case will a student be allowed to advance unless his examination is satisfactory.

MERIT ROLL.

A minute of every recitation of each student is kept, and from this record his standing is determined, and a circular containing the same, sent to his parent or guardian, showing his deportment, absence from recitation and other College duties, together with any other remarks the case may require. Reports will be sent to parents or guardians every two months during the year.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline is mild, but firm; and is directed to the formation of correct habits and an elevated character. If a student cannot be influenced by measures founded on these principles, or is habitually inattentive to the discharge of his duties, he will not be a desirable member of the University and will be required to withdraw.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF GOVERNMENT.

Every member of this Institution is expected to conduct himself, in all his relations, with gentlemanly propriety, and in such a way as will best secure the object for which it was organized—the highest moral and intellectual training of those who enter it.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS.

1. Each student is required to attend at least three daily recitations, unless excused by the Faculty.

2. Absence from recitation, or any prescribed literary exercise, without excuse, subjects the student to a penalty of from five to twenty demerits.

3. Unexcused absence from examinations will result in dismissal from the Institution.

4. When the demerits of any student amount to fifty in any term, the parent or guardian of such student will be informed of the fact; and when his demerits amount to one hundred, he will be dismissed from the University.

5. The drinking of any species of intoxicating liquors, or card or billiard playing, is regarded as a high misdemeanor, against which the most effective measure of discipline will be directed.

6. During study hours, each student must be engaged in study or recitation, unless especially excused by some member of the Faculty.

7. The use of profane or obscene language will subject the student to a reprimand, and if he persists, to suspension or expulsion, as the Faculty may decide.

8. No student is permitted to leave the vicinity on a visit to neighboring town, city or country, without the consent of the Faculty.

9. No student, under pain of immediate expulsion from the University, shall carry deadly weapons of any description.

10. Those who leave the University during term-time, without permission, will be suspended.

11. No student will be permitted to change his classes after the first week, except by permission of the Faculty.

12. A Diploma or certificate of proficiency or honorable dismissal will not be given to any student who has not paid all his College dues.

13. In cases not specially provided for by these Regulations, the decision of the Faculty will be based on the General principle of Government heretofore announced.

14. Each student, on entering the University, comes under the obligation of the following

PLEDGE:

"I hereby give my personal PLEDGE OF HONOR that, so long as I am a member of The Southwestern Baptist University, I will be subject to all the Principles and Regulations that are now in force, or may hereafter be adopted by the Faculty, for the government of the Institution."
